Report Form on: "MEDICAL CODING".

Nri College of Pharmacy took initiation in conducting A program on Medical Coding. Medical Coding has become one of the critical facets of the healthcare industry today. This coding involves transforming medical procedures, services, and diagnoses into universal all-pharmaceuticals. Medical coding requires medical terminology with good communication and writing then skills for encryption of the given data. During a medical coding process, these professionals apply codes and review them to ensure accuracy. The process involves abstracting information from patient records and assigning appropriate and corresponding codes.

The welcome note was delivered by Y.A. Chowdary sir principal about medical dictionaries, medical terminologies, and how doctors and other science departments will involve in collecting data from patients, and the speech continued with departmental heads.

The pharmacy students found it a privilege about conducting the medical coding program in college and understanding their roles and responsibilities before entering into the work area. Medical coders are the bridge between hospitals and insurance companies.

Students also raised questions on Medrar Medical dictionaries and other medical dictionaries and they also raised questions on type of job sectors will they fit etc., So, students found it helpful.
